THE GLOBE is always ready to gobble up snaps, and all persons wishing to dispose of their stock are keenly alive to the fact that spot cash awaits them if they are willing to make a big enough sacrifice. The size of the stock never bothers us, if they are satisfied with our offer. We sometimes buy such large stocks that it would stagger most houses.

FEDERAL CRIMINAL CODE TO BE AMENDED

Death Will Soon Be the Penalty for Assaulting the President.

Washington, Nov. 2.-The alarming deficiency in the Federal statutes regarding assaults on the President of the United States, as developed by the recent assassination of President McKinley, will result in a score or more of bills being introduced in the Fifty-seventh Congress to correct this anomalous condition. A measure which may be regarded as the administration's idea has been framed by the Commission for Codifying the Federal Statutes. This commission consists of Alexander C. Botkin, David K. Watson and William D Bynum. It has been at work for several years, has finished a criminal code and is now at work on the civil statutes. This task will require several years more for its

The bill which the commission has drafted is intended as a paragraph of the Federal Criminal Code, which has now been completed and submitted in the form of a report to the Department of Justice. The new secti n will make various crimes punishable when committed in forts or arsenals owned by the Government; on sites of post offices, Custom Houses and other Federal huldlings and within the shore line on the Great Lakes and abourd American vessels Wherever they may be in the eyes of the law at present the President is not more sacred against as-sault than the humblest citizen. More over, the Constitution gives the States power to punish crimes within their jurispower to punish crimes within their juris-diction, and in spile of any law which Con-priess may bases a State will still have juris-diction to punish assaults upon the Presi-dent in private capacity. If the motive of the crime is in no way connected with his official functions, the Federal Government cannot step in between the State and the accused. crimes assaults which are directed against the office of the Chief Executive as distinguished from the occupant of the office; of such character have been all the assaulations of our Presidents.

Beath the Penalty. In order to secure a larger measure of security for the Chief Magistrate, the commission has drafted a separate bill, making it a feloay, punishable with $5,000 fine, to threaten the life or person of the President and a capital crime to assault his person. In both instances the atlack must person. In both instances the attack must be on account of the doing or fainure to do something consected with his duties as President. Much difficulty was experienced in dealing with the subject of a law to protect the President. In order to bring the offense within the constitutional pale, the crime must be more than a crime against the person.

"When I could do nothing I used one bottle of Wine of Cardui and a package of Thedford's Black-Draught. Now I feel better than I have in a great many years."

Why will not every suffering woman who is discouraged in the fight for health do what Mrs. Rollins did? She did a very simple thing. She took Wine of Cardui at home and received the benefit that her family doctor or the most skilled specialist could not give her. Mrs. Rollins' letter shows women how dangerous it is to allow irregularities to run on. Her case continued so long that she became very weak-she felt she was developing quick consumption on account of the loss of blood. Then she took Wine of Cardui and was restored to health. This great home remedy seldom fails to cure disordered menses. It never fails to benefit. And in relieving the strain of irregular menstruation it drives out leucorrhoea and checks the terrible agony of falling of the womb. Thedford's Black-Draught, to regulate the bowels, liver and kidneys, and to stimulate digestion, aids materially in a cure. Don't give up, but try Wine of Cardui as thousands of other discouraged women have done. Your druggist sells $1.00 bottles. Call for, and insist on receiving, Wine of Cardui.

Capehart, W. Va., June 24, 1901. I do believe that Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught saved me from quick consumption for my periods were irregular for so long. I began to get alarmed and got weak. When I could do nothing I used one bottle of Wine of Cardui and a package of Thedford's Black-Draught and the first day's doses brought a change that I could tell. Before the bottle was gone my menses came on and a week after I felt like a new woman. I had run down so in flesh I could hardly keep my clothes on me, and now it has been three months since I began taking your medicines and now I am stout and hearty and feel better than I have in a great many years. My husband says I look better than I ever did. I expect to always keep supplied with your remedies, for I believe your medicines are the greatest boon for suffering women known to the science of medicine. Mrs. ELLEN ROLLINS.
